What standard applies if an employee was not employed for the full RAF period.

Guidelines: Using this table, you can see which standard applies to you if you were not employed for the full assessment period (1 January 2016–31 December 2018). After ‘months employed’ you will see the number of months in employment throughout the RAF period (2016-2018). You will see that if you were employed for 1,0 FTE for the full 36 months, the standard applying to you is 7 scholarly publications. However, if you only commenced employment on, for example, 1 January 2017, the standard applying to you is 5 scholarly publications etc.
