1. The BKO certificate is compulsory for all lecturers, associate professors, and senior lecturers with an appointment of at least 0.5 FTE for one year or more. All those for whom the BKO is compulsory must obtain the certificate within two years.
2. The obligation to obtain the BKO certificate may arise due to 1) a new employment contract, 2) the expansion of an employment contract, or 3) the conversion of a temporary employment contract into an employment contract for an indefinite period.
3. If someone chooses to take part in the FSW BKO procedure although they are not obliged to obtain the BKO, the same procedure will apply, with the exception of the requirement to complete the procedure within two years.
4. The standard BKO text will be included in the job advertisement text if the BKO is required for the position advertised.
5. The Academic Director (WD) of the Institute will inform the FSW Faculty Board Administration Office whether the BKO candidate (hereafter: the candidate) already holds a nationally recognised BKO certificate.
6. If the candidate does not yet have a nationally recognised BKO certificate, the Institute Manager will include the obligation to obtain the BKO certificate in the candidate's employment contract.
7. The candidate will receive information about the BKO procedure along with their letter of appointment.
8. Within two months of commencing employment, the candidate will make an appointment with the Secretary of the BKO Committee for an intake interview. During the intake interview the candidate will be informed about the FSW's BKO-procedure.
9. The Secretary of the BKO Committee informs the Personnel Shared Service Centre (PSSC) of the intake date so that this date can be recorded in the personnel administration system.
10. The BKO procedure forms part of the regular Performance and Development (R&O) interviews between the candidate and their manager.
11. The R&O manager shares responsibility with the candidate for the progress and successful completion of the BKO procedure.

the procedure.

14. The costs of the training programme will be borne by the candidate's Institute (for further information, see Appendix).
15. The dossier, with all appendices, must be handed in to the Secretary of the BKO Committee (hereafter referred to as: the Secretary) no later than 10 working days before the meeting of the BKO Committee (hereafter referred to as: the Committee). The initiative to provide the documents lies with the candidate. The documents are provided digitally in PDF format.
16. Candidates submit the following documents to the Committee:
 - a final BKO dossier signed by the candidate's manager (see Conditions for the dossier).
 - All course evaluations described in the dossier;
 - All partial certificates from the training programme;
 - if the candidate teaches through English, a copy of their BKE certificate.
17. The Secretary checks that the dossier submitted is complete: i.e., the student evaluations have been properly and sufficiently included in the dossier and it contains all the information the Committee requires to assess the content. If this is not the case, the Secretary will ask the candidate to complete it. The Secretary also checks that the certificates from the training programme (and the BKE certificate if required) are included in the dossier.
18. The Secretary informs the chair and members of the Committee about the BKO dossiers submitted and distributes the meeting documents.
19. On the basis of the BKO dossier, the Committee assesses the candidate's teaching competence in line with the Final Attainment Objectives of the University Teaching Qualification of Leiden University, taking into account the teaching duties the candidate will undertake in the near future.
20. The Committee informs the Dean about:
 - the dossiers on which the Committee cannot (yet) give a positive recommendation (see also the next point) and/or
 - the dossiers on which they have given a positive recommendation.
21. If the Committee cannot (yet) give a positive recommendation to the Dean on a candidate's dossier, they will inform the candidate in writing, giving reasons. The Committee also advises the candidate about how they could amend their dossier and informs them of the period within which this must take place. The Committee informs the Dean by sending them a copy of the advice given to the candidate.
22. In the event of a dispute between the candidate and the Committee about the candidate's BKO dossier, the decision rests with the Dean. In this case, the candidate may file an objection with the Committee, in response to which the Committee may give a positive recommendation after all. If the candidate wishes to file an objection, they may submit their statement of objection, the Committee's response, and an outline of their own standpoint to the Dean. The Dean will notify both the candidate and the Committee in writing of the final decision.
23. The Committee gives recommendations concerning the BKO dossier of a candidate who is employed by Leiden University and works at the FSW. The Committee does not make any decisions regarding the BKO dossier of a candidate whose employment with Leiden University has been terminated unless the Committee has established before the termination of the candidate's employment that information is missing from the dossier and the candidate provides the missing information within four weeks of the termination of employment.

24. The Dean makes a decision regarding the awarding of a BKO certificate once:
 - the Dean has been informed by the Committee of its recommendation regarding the candidate's dossier;
 - the dean has received the BKO certificate (requested by the BKO secretary, shared with the Faculty Board Administration Office).
25. The Faculty Board Administration Office supports the Dean in the further processing of the procedure: the Administrative Secretary sends the candidates their BKO certificate by e-mail. The Administrative Secretary also sends a copy of the certificate to the candidate's manager and to the PSSC. The PSSC notes this in the personnel administration system.

The BKO Committee

26. The BKO procedure, the composition and appointment of the BKO Committee, and the awarding of BKO certificates are the responsibility of the Dean. The Dean may delegate this responsibility and power to the Vice Dean (Director of Studies).

Appendix 1. Costs of BKO Training Programme

Financial settlement of programme costs:

- The costs of the FSW training programme amount to approx. € 1000 per person.
- The Institutes are responsible for the costs of the training programme for all candidates, regardless of whether the BKO is compulsory for a given candidate.
- If candidates participate in modules that are not included in the FSW training programme, here too the Institute to which they belong is responsible for the costs.

Participation in the FSW BKO training programme is binding. The candidate is required to be present at all sessions of the module. There is no possibility to compensate or make up for a session that the candidate has missed. If the candidate misses a single session, they will be required to retake the module in its entirety.

If the candidate is absent from a module or any part of it (regardless of whether they have informed the lecturer in advance), we are obliged to recover the costs of the module(s) from the candidate's Institute. Exception: if the candidate is absent due to personal circumstances, no extra costs will be charged.
