The power of expression

Workshop by Scott Blick

Maximum number of participants: 12

The aim of this workshop series is to give you concrete and practical skills to assist you in your daily work: how to use your voice in a relaxed healthy manner, how to stay grounded, and how to resolve basic verbal and non-verbal communication issues. We'll work along the lines of experiential learning: 'do' and 'experience', access and adjust where necessary, then 'do' again. You'll have ample opportunity during the workshops to practice your new skills by giving a short pitch under different conditions.

Session 1: September 27th, 13:00-15:00 (1A03)

Session 2: October 16th, 13:00-15:00 (SA21)

Session 3: November 13th, 15:00-17:00 (SB11)

Diversity in the classroom

Workshop by Daan Romein

October 10th, 13:00-15:00 in SA21

Maximum number of participants: 12

The workshop will focus on pedagogy for a diverse student population. During your teaching you will encounter a wide variety of students, all with their own history, personality and challenges. In order to enable all your students to benefit from your teaching, you will need to deal with these student differences purposefully; But how do you do that? How do you include all your students with their diverse backgrounds, in your teaching?

Qualtrics for beginners

Workshop by Esther Blik and Lois Smalenberg

October 12th, 11:00-13:00 in 1A28

Maximum number of participants: 20

Lunch
included

Anyone with a valid ULCN account can easily create professional-looking online surveys and forms in the Leiden University corporate identity. In this workshop, you'll learn how you can start using Qualtrics and how to use the basic features of this online tool.

Presenterswall

Workshop by Esther Blik and Lois Smalenberg

October 19th, 11:00-13:00 in 1A28

Maximum number of participants: 20

Lunch
included

Do you want to have more interaction with a big audience? Let your students vote or answer questions with Presenterswall. In this workshop, you will learn how to use this online tool.

Basics of Kaltura

Workshop by Rosanne van den Berg

October 30th, 11:00-13:00 in 1A28

Maximum number of participants: 20

included

In this hands-on-workshop we will explore the possibilities of the new Kaltura Video Platform for the storing, editing and sharing of videos. The platform is available to teachers and students and fully integrated with Blackboard. After following this workshop, you will know how to upload, edit and publish videos and how you can make the best use of Kaltura in your own course.

Copyright and education *Dutch only*

Workshop by Damiaan van Eeten

November 3rd, 15:00-16:00 in 5A23

Maximum number of participants: 40

This workshop deals with the fundamental principles of copyright. You will gain insight into your rights and responsibilities involved with using copyrighted materials. Special attention is paid to the new reader agreement.

Endnote

Workshop by Els Koeneman

November 24th, 15:00-17:00 in 1A28

Maximum number of participants: 16

Managing your references can be very time consuming: did I read this article, and what did I think of it? Did all the citations and references I used in my document end up in the bibliography? Are the titles in my bibliography correct and do I really have to adjust every title to the correct style one by one? These problems can be solved by using reference management software like EndNote or Mendeley. The Leiden University Libraries (UBL) offer an introductory instruction to EndNote for everyone who has been postponing the decision to start using a reference manager, for those who got lost in trying to master one on their own, and for those who use one but would like a little help.

Food For Thought sessions

During the Food For Thought meetings researchers present their current projects and general avenues of investigation. The aim is to promote fruitful interdisciplinary cooperation, especially between Institutes. With this in mind, this year's theme is "passing the baton": at each meeting speakers from various Institutes will address a single subject from varying perspectives. We would greatly appreciate your presence at these meetings!
