

About this template

This template will help you prepare for the interview on your profile.

Depending on your position, not all topics will be applicable to you, or some may be missing that do belong on your profile. This template is meant as an orientation aid and to get an idea of all the possibilities.

You don't need to put anything down on paper for the appointment. However, it can be useful to think about which questions are relevant to you in advance, so that we can get started right away. If you can't, that's no problem and we will go through the template during the appointment.

Click here for the template

Click here to email a question

This is an interactive pdf. Click on the green underlined tabs for additional information. This way you can quickly see what needs to be filled in where.

Press the home button at the top left to go back to the beginning.

Name

Position

Click here

Name

Phone number

E-mail

ORCID iD

Overview

Profile

Contact

Publicaties

Ancillary activities

This is a summary of your position and activities. It is the first information that visitors see when they want to know more about your work.

- In what position and unit do you work?
- What area of research/education do you focus on in your work? Use the keywords here.
- What research/teaching methods do you use? Use the keywords here.
- What relevant ancillary activities do you undertake?

Maximum 60 words.

News

Calendar

Social media

In the media

Leiden Psychology Blog

PhD's or supervisor

This is an interactive pdf. Click on the green underlined tabs for additional information. This way you can quickly see what needs to be filled in where.

Press the home button at the top left to go back to the beginning.

Overview

Profile

Contact

Publicaties

Ancillary activities

Research

This first part is about your research: what you focus on, how you do this and why this matters.

- What research areas do you focus on?
- Optional: list of research questions you attempt to answer.
- What research methods do you use for this?
- Why did you choose this area of research?
- What appeals to you in the topics you research?
- Why is this field of research societally or scientifically relevant?
- What do you hope to achieve with your research?

Maximum 300 words.

Teaching

This second part is about your teaching activities.

- What subjects do you teach?
- What questions do you try to answer with students?
- What appeals to you in the subjects you teach?
- What do you hope to achieve with your teaching?

Maximum 300 words.

Career

Here you can describe your career path in chronological order.

- What, where and when did you study?
- What was/is the subject of your PhD research, who was your supervisor and when did you work on your project?
- What position(s) did you hold afterwards?
- In which collaborations, associations, (research) platforms, etc. do you participate?
- What relevant ancillary activities do you undertake?

Maximum 300 words.

Below, you can choose to add a list of..

- PhD Students
- Grants
- Awards
- Certificates
- Scientific memberships or advisory boards

This is an interactive pdf. Click on the green underlined tabs for additional information. This way you can quickly see what needs to be filled in where.

Press the home button at the top left to go back to the beginning.

Name

Position

Click here

Name

Phone number

E-mail

ORCID iD

Overview

Profile

Contact

Publicaties

Ancillary activities

News

Optional: a list of news articles of the University to which you are linked.

Calendar

Optional: a list of events from the University calendar to which you are linked.

Social media

Optional: links to your social media channels.

In the media

Optional: a list of media-items where you've appeared in.

Leiden Psychology Blog

Optional: a list of your blogposts on the Leiden Psychology Blog.

PhD's or supervisor

Optional: a list of your PhD-candidates or a link to your supervisor.

This is an interactive pdf. Click on the green underlined tabs for additional information. This way you can quickly see what needs to be filled in where.

Press the home button at the top left to go back to the beginning.

Name

Position

Five key words that cover your work.

Name

Phone number

E-mail

ORCID iD

Overview

Profile

Contact

Publicaties

Ancillary activities

News

Calendar

Social media

In the media

Leiden Psychology Blog

PhD's or supervisor