

Courtyard garden and terrace

The beautiful walled courtyard garden is an oasis of rest and a wonderful place to relax. In the summer months you can enjoy the late evening sun. The garden can be accessed directly from the brasserie, the restaurant and the dining room but you could also use it separately for a festive gathering. The terrace borders onto the Hortus Botanicus botanical garden.

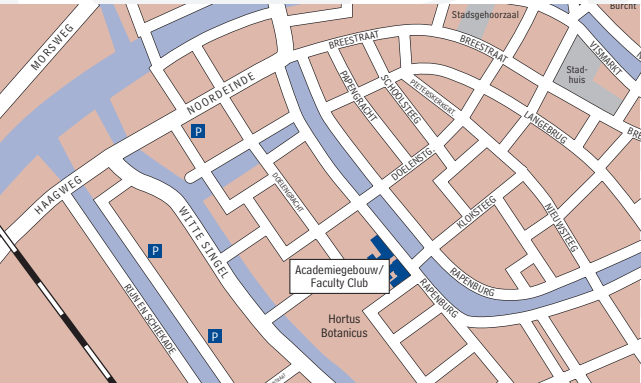

Meeting facilities

The Faculty Club offers meeting rooms of various sizes equipped with modern facilities. The rooms can serve as meeting rooms, venues for courses or congresses and can be used for receptions or informal get-togethers. These rooms are in keeping with the ambiance of the Academy Building. The curators room has a traditional oval table that seats approximately 10 persons.

Accessibility and parking

Paid parking for the Faculty Club is available in the city centre or in the multi-storey car park on Maliebaan (behind the University Library) and in the Haagweg car park, which is approximately 8 minutes' walk away. There is a free shuttle bus between the Haagweg and the Rapenburg. Leiden railway station is approximately 10 minutes' walk away. There are also buses, taxis and NS Zonetaxis departing from the station in the direction of the Rapenburg.

In style on the Rapenburg

On and around the Rapenburg, one of the most well-known canals of Leiden, university buildings stand as silent witnesses of the historic wealth of Leiden University. These are historic, unique surroundings. The Academy Building and the Faculty Club are unique locations that offer areas suitable for meetings, lunches, symposiums, dinners and receptions. This leaflet introduces the many facets of the Academy Building and the Faculty Club.

Faculty Club

Since its foundation in 1998 it is impossible to imagine the university without the Faculty Club. Located since 2009 in the renovated Academy Building at Rapenburg 73, the Faculty Club offers state of the art facilities in an authentic environment. Whether a pleasant business lunch, meeting, congress, work anniversary or staff party, the special ambience of the Faculty Club lends an extra dimension to all gatherings. The restaurant, brasserie, dining room and various luxury meeting rooms make it the perfect location for any business occasion.

Faculty Club Brasserie

The Faculty Club brasserie is a popular meeting place for the university community. An intimate space with a bar, it is an excellent spot for an informal get-together. You can have an à la carte lunch or dinner with a view of the courtyard garden from our menu constantly updated with new dishes. The brasserie is open to the public.

Academy Building

The former chapel of the Convent of the White Nuns, the Academy Building has been the heart of Leiden University since 1581. Since its complete renovation the building has been used for various ceremonies. The excellent reception facilities of the Academy Building make it a prime location for your receptions.

Faculty Club Restaurant

The Faculty Club restaurant is perfect for receptions, buffets or private dinners and is also the ideal setting for lunch or dinner with a historic ambience. At the bar, you can relax and enjoy a drink. The French doors opening onto the courtyard garden make it a fantastic space for any occasion, especially in the March to October period.

Faculty Club Dining Room

The Faculty Club dining room is ideal for smaller groups requiring more privacy. It is an atmospheric room with French doors opening onto the courtyard garden and a large table that seats 14. We would be happy to put together a custom catering offer for your party.
